	Behaviour & Attitude	Effort	Home Learning
4	Exemplifies the Denes Way – is proud to participate in lessons, and is responsible for their learning. Always on time to lessons because every minute matters.	Takes responsibility for their work, completing with enthusiasm, focus and to a high standard, showing respect for learning and for others. Always works hard in their lessons.	Takes responsibility to write their home learning in their planner, and consistently meets home learning deadlines, usually being ahead of them ensuring they are ready for lesson. Uses Home Learning Club.
3*	Usually exemplifies the Denes Way and is mostly proud to participate and offer their input. Usually on time to lessons.	Work set in lesson is usually attempted with good levels of effort, although this is not always consistent. Does not go above and beyond.	Attempts to take responsibility for their home learning, and meets most home learning deadlines. Attends Home Learning Club if needed.
2	Has to be reminded of the Denes Way and often needs prompting in lessons. Mostly on time to lessons, some concerns about lateness. At times, has been removed from lesson.	Does attempt work set in lesson to try to take responsibility, however needs prompting from the teacher to stay on track, sometimes working hard.	Does not often attempt Home Learning and revision, and misses numerous deadlines. Does not tend to attend Home Learning Club to support.
1	Rarely works independently and relies upon teacher input. Denes Way not yet evident in this student. Often late to lesson. Concerns about truancy. Often removed from lesson.	Limited attempts to take responsibility, and work is often incomplete with little respect for work shown.	Does not attempt Home Learning and revision in readiness for lesson, with deadlines often missed. No attempt made to go to Home Learning Club.
